SALE OF PRIMARY RESIDENCE

Note-If you lived in your home for 2 of the past 5 years you generally don't have to claim the sale of your home on your tax return, unless the gain on your home was greater than $250,000 for an individual or $500,000 for a married couple. There are exceptions to the general rule (ie. You claimed prior depreciation for a business in home deduction. You sold another primary residence within two years of the date of this sale.) Please provide a copy of the final settlement statement for the sale of the residence. If you have the original purchase settlement statement, please provide that as well.
